InfoPath Inside Viewer 3.0 Stable - Released 30/04/2012The military is preparing to report an alarming sign of the spread of avian flu around Afghanistan. A spokesman for Afghan forces said in a statement that the virus has been detected in the people in the regional areas. According to the statement, the virus, H5N1, has not been found yet in the main population of Afghanistan, and "there is no fear of the virus spreading to the country's people." However, the Defense Ministry's spokesman said it has been detected in several provinces, including Kandahar, Helmand, Zabul and Farah provinces. "This is the result of the hard work of the government and people of these areas," the statement says. In this regard, the Ministry of Public Health and the Interior Ministry have called to the people in the affected areas to take precautions, particularly to prevent diseases and report suspicious places to health centers.// Copyright (c) 2010 Google Inc. // All rights reserved. // // Redistribution and use in source and binary forms, with or without // modification, are permitted provided that the following conditions are // met: // // * Redistributions of source code must retain the above copyright // notice, this list of conditions and the following disclaimer. // * Redistributions in binary form must reproduce the above // copyright notice, this list of conditions and the following disclaimer // in the documentation and/or other materials provided with the
