The Timer Screensaver can display Idle Duration (The Duration for which there has been no user input to the computer) or it can be configured to display the Duration for which the Timer Screensaver is running. Timer Screensaver allows you to Turn Off Computer Display (All Computer Displays in case of Multiple or Dual Monitor Setup) after a defined time. You will have the possibility to configure the screensaver accessing the Screensaver Properties of the Control Panel. Timer Screensaver has many features such as configuring Text Color of the Timer display, change timer alignment, selection of Timer Font and increasing or decreasing the font size of the digital timer display. Other functionality features of the Timer Screensaver allows you to select what type of timer to display (i.e Whether to display computer idle time or to display the time duration for which the screensaver has been running). The Settings Dialog box allows to preview the display of timer screensaver in a small window or to preview the screensaver as it would appear on the computer screen / display. Timer Screensaver can be helpful to know how much time you spent on a coffee break or save your computer screen by turning it off after a configurable duration. Timer Screensaver enjoys all the features of any other ScreenSaver such as launching ScreenSaver configuration properties from ScreenSaver settings of Control Panel, Locking of Computer when ScreenSaver becomes active etc. You can easily select any color for the text of the timer screensaver, however background color of the Timer ScreenSaver remains black. Some of the apps in the Google Play Store are scams. But some of them are legit too. The reason is they might have fulfilled your requirements or they might give you a good experience. You might find some interesting apps that way and some you might ignore. They just don't like us. Seriously. We sometimes forget that Google doesn't like us as a community. Even if we are not the ones who complain all the time. If we are the ones who "sometimes" complain, it doesn't mean we are all the time complaining. So we give them a break sometimes. But this doesn't mean they like us. We are here to help you. You might find a more appropriate place to voice your frustration. Don't fret. Because here we are to offer you good alternatives to some of those apps. The Google Play Store has plenty of apps. And most of
