One of the most reliable information about mobile phone pricing, availability and past and future plans was the Mobile Universe platform. This innovative portal has been in operation for several years now. Mobile Universe has been running for 6 years in the past in their portal and the newest version of their portal is said to have launched in July 2012. The new versions is in ready since July 2012 and there are few improvements noticed in the new version compared to the previous version. The basic design of the mobile portal is the same; but even the most of the functions on the website has changed. The site offers mobile specifications like previous version of website but also the latest functions like software updates, mobile apps, Mobile World Congress 2010 and 2008, pricing tables, mobile trends, mobile devices, and many more. Mobile World Congress 2010 Mobile world congress 2010 has been organised in a major way. Consumer Electronics Show (CES) has tried to be a part of mobile world congress as they are the mobile industry's biggest trade show. And it has been successful. 4G networks, world wide mobile growth, tablet popularity and many more have been talked about at this year's event. Mobile World Congress 2008 A lot of improvements have been seen in mobile world congress 2008. This time, the site offered upgraded software to track new mobile devices including new Apple's iPhone 4 and 4G smartphones. This year's event has been an enjoyable one for everyone. Mobile World Congress 2008 Highlights Win the World's Best Smartphone This year's landmark iPhone 4 was launched with the biggest headlines. It was the launch of the iPhone 4, the biggest advance in smartphones since the introduction of the original iPhone. 4G Reliability Research from Nokia showed that 4G technology was not just some overhyped marketing ploy. The new standard is available for about 50m people globally, with more than 4,000 sites across Europe and the U.S. being tested to see if they will go live later this year. GSM: The Beat Goes On GSM, the most popular standard for mobile phones, was also praised. It remains the
