Pages July 30, 2016 It's a Time to Waste No Time on Memory Lapse and Alzheimer's It's time to waste no time on memory lapse and Alzheimer's There is a time to be careful and a time to be bold. –Niccolo Machiavelli Two of my observations in the past ten years of my elder years include: ~ Time is precious. ~ Time is plentiful. I am definitely not an exception to these simple conclusions. It's time to waste no time on memory lapse and Alzheimer's. We all will experience a memory lapse in one or the other way and it's for sure that we all will experience a memory loss. My best memory is the first day I met a journalist for the first time. It's when I am at the airport waiting to board the airplane. I remember nothing, what to do there, how to get to the airplane, whether I have my wallet or not, whether I bring my luggage or not. I can't even remember my own name. Life is short. Live for today. I want to be remembered by how I spent my life. I want people to say, "she was a good friend." If you think you are a memory expert, try a memory exercise. Take a video of yourself and be in it for your whole life. I bet you remember lots of things. While it's okay to have a memory lapse, it's not okay to have no memory. It's time to waste no time on memory lapse and Alzheimer's. We all will have a memory lapse. So, let's waste no time on memory lapse and Alzheimer's.Chosen Scraps! Today I want to share with you a few cards that I made using different scraps of papers and stickers. I like using different combinations of papers, stickers and embellishments. I also like to try to make cards that can be used for a number of occasions. Here are a couple of my favorites... Well, I hope that you like them too. And if you have any questions about the cards, I'd be happy to help! I'd be curious to know which cards are your favorites! Have

Q: PowerShell - how to determine if a process is embedded? I'm trying to build a simple PowerShell script that will accept filename parameters and check to see if the file is embedded. If it is embedded it needs to provide a parameter to indicate the embed location - i.e. '\\server\share\path\folder\file.jpg'. If the file is not embedded then it will just give an appropriate error message. I know I can check if a process is running, and that's easy enough. The problem is I have no idea how to check if it's an embedded process. Is this possible? EDIT: Here's an example of what I mean by embedded: C:\Share>start c:\folder\file.jpg C:\Share> A: You can use PsExec to tell you if a program is running: $ps = New-Object System.Diagnostics.ProcessStartInfo $ps.Arguments = "C:\Windows\System32\WindowsPowerShell\v1.0\powershell.exe" $ps.FileName = "C:\windows\system32\WindowsPowerShell\v1.0\powershell.exe" $ps.WindowStyle = "hidden" $ps.UseShellExecute = $true $ps.Verb = "runas" $p = New-Object System.Diagnostics.Process $p.StartInfo = $ps $p.Start() | Out-Null $p.WaitForExit() $error = $p.ExitCode Do {Write-Host "."} while ($error -ne 0) exit $error A: Have you looked at the methods from the enum WindowStation.Type enum? For example: $name = 'c:\path\to\file.jpg' $SType.Running = $false $SType.Stopped = $false $SType.Hidden = $true $SType.Minimized = $false $SType.Attached = $true $SType.Desktops = [System.Collections.ArrayList]@() $SType.Open = $false $SType.Hidden = $true $SType.Minimized = $true $SType
