The Eraser tool allows you to clear out unwanted areas of the image. This tool allows you to create compound paths, which are complex shapes created by combining smaller shapes into one large object. Compound paths can be used for masking or adding decorations to an image. The Gradient tool allows you to draw or trace a gradient across an image. A gradient is basically a series of color stops, which you can use to control the exact color, position, and blend for any part of the gradient. This is the most common tool for creating gradients. The Puppet Warp tool is often used for warping photos. You can use it to make people look like they are wearing a mask or to make masks appear to be made of plastic. The Paths tool allows you to create compound shapes that can be used for masking or as decoration in an image. Paths can also be used to create complex shapes. The Pen tool is not a very common tool, but it allows you to paint on images. You can use this tool for creating layers for painting, image retouching, and drawing simple paths on an image. The Gradient tool allows you to draw or trace a gradient across an image. A gradient is basically a series of color stops, which you can use to control the exact color, position, and blend for any part of the gradient. This is the most common tool for creating gradients. This tool allows you to create compound paths, which are complex shapes created by combining smaller shapes into one large object. Compound paths can be used for masking or adding decorations to an image. This tool allows you to view the invisible pixels on an image and decide how to paint it. You can also use the high-resolution preview image to view the fine details of the image. The Pathfinder tool allows you to create compound shapes that can be used for masking or as decoration in an image. Paths can also be used to create complex shapes. The Lasso tool allows you to select an area of the image and automatically create a compound path. This is very useful for erasing specific areas, including an object in the image or paths on the image. The Magic Wand tool allows you to select and select area of an image in an easy, quick, and accurate way. You can use this tool to select specific objects or areas of an image, or to select a similar area of another image.

What's New In?

Friday, November 1, 2007 The media here, and in New York for that matter, went nuts when the dust settled on Monday afternoon's press conference. What we all got to see were the naked truth of Joe Charboneau's character, and that of a generation of New Orleans Saints coaches, that we all hold in such high esteem. Where he said he got his money from? The parking lot! Where he lied about the Godfather's garage? He owns that place. Where he said he found a parking pass? He doesn't have one. Where he lied about meeting Michael Irvin? He did. Where he lied about the NFL enabling him to meet Michael Irvin? He lied! Where he lied about his bio being written before his 2004 wedding to Karen? He lied! Where he lied about following the Saints? He lied. Just because he was caught in a lie, and takes the 5th on whether or not he's going to tell the truth about other issues, like the money he got from the Saints, doesn't make him a scumbag. I'll never get that. Nor should anyone. But I've let some of you guys hang in there with me through this. There was so much to write about Monday and I just kept going in circles. It took the sight of Joe on P*rnhog.com -- I know he's old, but who ever got that big was a scumbag -- as the catalyst. And you know what? If I spend the next 6 months writing about Joe, will he talk to me in the press? I don't know, but you know what? We will never know, because he will never give an interview. Because the New York Times, New Orleans Times Picayune, and ESPN will not ask him questions. I doubt anyone from the New Orleans Media will. The most media Joe will be speaking to will be Ben & Skin. Joe took the 5th. I'm not saying the guy's a scumbag, but I'm saying the thought of him as a coach is just that -- a thought. Something to think about after Monday. Here's what Joe, and his folks said at the press conference: Joe (via the Great Matt) and Karen Charboneau: "Mr. Johnson is a good person and a great coach. He's been a great coach. We're trying to rebuild the franchise, and we've got to get back to that." Joe
