(Determination of phytoestrogenic compounds in a traditional Chinese medicinal plant by dispersive liquid-liquid microextraction coupled with high performance liquid chromatography-electrospray ionization quadrupole time-of-flight mass spectrometry). A simple and rapid method of dispersive liquid-liquid microextraction (DLLME) coupled with high performance liquid chromatography-electrospray ionization quadrupole time-of-flight mass spectrometry (HPLC-ESI-QTOF-MS) has been developed for simultaneous determination of 17 phytoestrogenic compounds in medicinal plant sample. The samples were extracted with chloroform for DLLME. After extraction, a dispersive solvent is added dropwise into a fine cloud of the extracting solution, leading to the formation of a cloudy, milky solution, which was centrifuged for 3 min. The centrifugal solution was collected to a chromatographic vial for analysis. The extraction efficiency and repeatability for phytoestrogenic compounds were evaluated. The optimized conditions were: sample solution 5 mg/mL, amount of extraction solvent: 20 µL, extraction solvent volume: 20 µL, extraction time: 2 min, extraction temperature: 25 °C. Under the optimum conditions, the linear range for the 17 compounds was in the range of 0.0-100.0 ng/mL (r²>0
