What's new:

Place from Bitch's "I Ka World" - I did a little research for this one, being as I like to make monsters. Decay was a monster who was an infamous guardian for the Tainted Heart, who swore revenge on all who would go after it. Somewhere along the way, he killed his brother and took over his place as the guardian. However, he didn't realize that he was a Ravnous and was dying. He didn't know he was the reincarnation of another Ravnous who killed his previous self. The problem was, he wasted all his power to rule the Tainted Heart as his minions and, before he passed away, he gave Demon Blood to one of his minions, the Ravnouvlar who later on became an ancient ancestor to him. He then started to fall into decay. As for why his Aspect is an egg. It's because he lost his hierarchy, which was also a domain. I feel that he should be an emerald rock from an Elemental Plane, something kind of boring and plain like that. OH, WHAT A WONDERFUL STORY!! splurt I am gonna do it! slurp slurp slurp poke The first thing that I'm going to do, is find some good reference pictures of Decay, and then will turn them into art. I don't want to copy art, because I really like what you've done here (well, really, anything done by Purple-wolf is good) but I have to find some stuff. I just don't know what. I think I'm going to make the thing that is in the middle be wobbly, because that looks really spooky. I do think about wobbly in my art sometimes, but usually it's giving things a "Phisically wobbly/vibrating/floating" look. Oh, welp. I probably need to figure out where I should stick a webcam in a horror movie. Well, as with the previous two characters, I make little faces "oh, oh, whew, oh, big hairy hand"; (Where is that fanart I want? Cosplay to the rescue!) I decided to make him have a fat tail as it is something that gives him a more interesting look. I like it! grunt I'm kinda new to that aspect of OPs also
