This is a time-based game of prediction and team work. You can also borrow each pets cost to make the team. You can also spend Pet + Crystals to make the team. Your opponent will also try to complete the game and collect the highest number of stars, collecting more than you to win. The game is a good way to practice team work and prediction. Drabidiboo has to be completed in 30 minutes and can be played in single player or multiplayer, using internet or LAN. The game can play on computers or tablets and can be downloaded from Android and iOS apps stores. About The Pet Cards The Pet cards are the main thing of the game to complete. They help you to keep track of your opponents and plan your next moves. Each card is made up of 3 colours, and each colour represents a pet. Each pet can be placed on each tile, and can go anywhere (according to the board), except for the tableau tiles, which cannot be moved from. Colour red means he can't move that tile, while colour blue means he can move. The game will be explained using the pet cards. There are 3 variants of pet cards: Classic Pet: You only have the classic pet card and cannot borrow any cost. Meta Pet: Each pet can move in only one direction. You can place a meta pet on the tile, but it cannot go to the tableau. If the tile is free, you can move it using meta pet. Lazy Pet: You can place as many pet as you want. The game will check that all pets are free and let you place them. After that, the game will move the first pet. The same happens for the following pets. The last pet will be placed at the end of the turn. The classic pet is the cheapest, the meta pet is more expensive and the lazy pet is not as simple to use, but is the fastest. * * * * * Features: - The game can play in single player or multiplayer, using internet or LAN - 100% original Turn Based Strategy game of prediction - A set of Pets to

What's new in Simple Story - Alex:

Plague Inc.: Evolved is a game developed by Mountain Goat Games and published by Paradox Interactive for Xbox 360 and Windows. The game does not use the timeline in the tabletop game because of its cooperative nature. Gameplay The game is a real-time strategy game, where the players are trying to create their own success-oriented corporation and their own path in order to increase their business, gain wealth, and level up their characters. Instead of targeting a number of enemies, the goal in Plankton Games is to join friends in a series of small community-centered plots, where a corporation such as Michelin Turf Enterprises can concentrate on a few: let a marine biologist shoot exotic animals for you, let a microbiologist research and grow spore bacteria for you. In late game, there are several new sectors are unlocked and available to play. This includes a horticultural plant cultivation plot, a race track plot and an amusement park plot. A new plot, vertical plot, manages to attract more people, this time enterprises (rather than a sole player) and it creates more ways to earn money for the player. The vertical plot system allows players to buy plots using real-world currency, which they will get based on performance on horticultural, amusement park, and race track plots. The game mechanic revolves around "news" reports, which appear in the game screen when certain objects are discovered or done by the players. These reports can affect one area of the game and will also progress the game as the doctor, who appears in the game screen when certain achievements are achieved or certain diseases are cured, which will unlock new medical sectors. Generally, the amount of earned coins will vary depending on the time when the player achievement is unlocked. Sectors and plot mechanics In 2 weeks' time, the player will unlock 16 sectors in the game. They are associated with the name of a type of sector and the plot looks like with more people, more business will be attracted, and as a result the developer gains more cash. Four types of plots are available: horticulture, amusement park, race track, and vertical. The horticulture plots are similar to a usual real-time strategy game, where the player has a plot where they cultivate seaside plants and keep them alive. After the marine biologist has found the marine creatures for the player, the first harvest of 'harvest' becomes available. This is a prerequisite for the game, which the player has to Lunnye Devitsy is about returning home. The loneliest thing in the universe is feeling abandoned by your people. Lunnye must find a way to escape this painful situation and to find his people. 60 reviews €19.99 You've been stranded on the largest moon in the system for six months. Your worn-out spaceship is about to fail and it will only take one more small "error" to force you into a brutal death spiral towards the far side of the moon. Your only chance to save yourself is to find a way to get home. The moon is a huge, snowy mountain with caves, moonshine and alien beings looking for your help. Every cave and passage is a test of your skills, as one fatal mistake will mean death. The main problem is that you've lost all your memories from the crash and you don't even know if your home planet ever existed. It's your job to help Lunnye make his way home. The first step is to locate some fragments of the planet you're from in the smelly interior of a certain cave. Each fragment is needed to make one of three crystal keystones. Once you've got your keystones you can use them to transform the moon's landscape. Build a huge wind turbine, house, space station or spaceship. Make a robotic police force to hunt the creatures of the moon. Whatever you build, you'll need to protect it from the dangerous creatures that roam the moon. You have many different items at your disposal and all are needed to survive. Some are more useful than others and some change the rules of the game. Every adventure has a different set of rules that you will have to deal with. Completing an adventure will require you to perform certain skills. A gameplay mechanic that gives the game a different feeling every time you play. While building ships and guns, Lunnye will uncover the story behind his past. The main characters are all refugees who started on the moon with nothing but the clothes on their backs. Their war-scarred souls are still hidden in the depths of their dreams. A mystery unfolds when all of them combine their powers together. There are over 200 alien creatures to protect you and fight against, an immense soundtrack to discover, a mysterious storyline to uncover, and of course, a universe waiting to be explored.
